F. D. HOPES FOR NO NEW TAXES

Estimate of 1938's Needs Studied by Executive For Congress

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today renewed his expression of hope that there will be no need for new taxes at this congressional session.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement was made as he prepared to present to congress next week his estimates of the required relief appropriation for the 1938 fiscal year.

His statement that he hoped no additional taxes will be necessary came in the face of lagging tax receipts and congressional approval of expenditures not included in the budget.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had not yet decided the amount he will recommend be spent for unemployment aid during the next fiscal year. The figure will be decided, he said, about 24 hours before he sends his special message to congress.

The message, he said, will contain revised budget estimates brought up to date since last December.

The editor confirmed the report originally appearing in the London News Chronicle, and said "All Protestant missionaries will be revealed as spies or agents of shady business." He wrote:

"One day it was discovered that these women had intimate conversations with a British colonel named Sandford... who has been revealed as active in espionage service."

LOYALIST ARMY TRYING TO ROUT REBEL INVADERS

Italy Faces Difficult Role As Intervention Issue Becomes Stronger

EUROPEAN BREACH SEEN

Battle Under Way Believed Biggest of Civil War

BY UNITED PRESS
A terrific and perhaps decisive battle for possession of Madrid raged today while the European powers bickered among themselves over the question of intervening in Spain's civil war.

The Spanish loyalists started a supreme effort to drive the invaders from the gates of the capital, at which they have been battering for five months.

Henry T. Correll, United Press correspondent who has been under fire repeatedly since the start of the war, watched the battle in the western outskirts of Madrid, with shells falling around him. He reported the insurgents retreating all along the line, under a hail of shell and machine gun fire and aerial bombs.

Battle in Mountains
East of the city, a heavy artillery duel was in progress in the Guadajajara mountains, where the Italians were defeated three weeks ago and the first break in the insurgent campaign started.

If the insurgents around Madrid are completely routed, it may force the intervention issue. If Italy is determined to insure a rebel victory, she would have to send heavy reinforcements into Spain.

The result would be a serious breach with Britain and France, whose relations with Italy already are heavily strained.

The present battle of Madrid is probably the biggest since the siege of the capital began five months ago. The loyalists drove steadily through the wooded Cam De Campo in the western outskirts of the city, forcing the insurgents back.

New York News Reports All Moves of C. I. O. to be Matched

RECOGNITION DENIED

Magnate's Move of Many Years Ago Recalled

NEW YORK, April 9.—(UP)—The New York Daily News said in a dispatch from Washington today that Henry Ford planned to boost his employees' wages in an effort to thwart the United Automobile Workers' campaign to unionize his factories.

"The latest tip-off," the dispatch said, "is that Henry Ford intends to link the unions with a generous distribution of that great pile of Ford cash."

"Henry, to keep the unions out, is getting ready to announce a wage scale and bless a chart of working conditions which will boost the ante far above anything which the C. I. O. (Committee for Industrial Organization) has won from General Motors or Chrysler."

"The advance information is in direct line with the Ford tactics in the past. Ford, a quarter of a century ago, started American industry when he announced his $5-a-day minimum for every worker."

"If the 73-year-old auto magnate decides to pay every man at least $10 a day there will be very few objections. And that, according to Ford men here, is just what Henry intends to do."

"He will give the boys more money than the union leaders ever asked for, meet with spokesmen of employees and adjust every grievance to the satisfaction of the workers, but never recognize the union or give in to the closed shop."

OSHAWA, Ont., April 9.—(UP)—

One hundred Royal Canadian Mounted and 200 Ontario provincial police were concentrated in this area today to assist the General Motors Corporation of Canada if it decides to try to re-open its Oshawa plant, strike-closed since yesterday.

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, at whose request the mounted officers were stationed in Toronto armories, offered police aid to the corporation and declared the government would stamp out agitation of the kind which he said had "brought the United States almost into a state of anarchy."

"If necessary," he warned, "we will raise an army to do so." Company officials, who refused to recognize the United Automobile Workers of America, an international union affiliated with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, were expected to indicate today whether they would accept the premier's offer.

Strike leaders answered the threat by strengthening picket lines at the plant.

Campbell Seeks Productive Investments Revenue

COLUMBUS, April 9.—(UP)—

Faced with a complete stoppage of state-supplied food, a group of red-eyed, bedraggled relief sit-downers tightened their belts today, determined to "hold the fort" in Governor Davey's ornate state house reception room until they receive definite assurance of an "adequate" program to take care of the state's needy.

At the same time senate leaders, apparently weakening in their new-taxes stand, announced they would return to the capital Monday "prepared to stay over the week-end if necessary" in an attempt to push through a relief program to avoid the carrying out of Governor Davey's proposal to set up soup kitchens throughout the state.

Majority Floor Leader Kieth Lawrence, Cuyahoga, said the proposals most acceptable to the senate were an additional one-cent a gallon tax on gasoline and a combination proposal of an additional half-cent tax on liquid fuel and an increase in the admissions tax from three to 10 percent. Both proposals, he estimated, would raise about $8,000,000 for the rest of the year.

ing the day, demanding enactment of the Curtin bill, providing $50,000,000 annually for relief in Ohio.

"We're all broke and we don't know where we can raise money to buy food if the state won't supply any more," Ben Gray, Cleveland, fiery, dark-haired president of the Ohio Workers' Alliance explained.

"But we're going to stay regardless of what they do," he said. "John Caren, the governor's executive secretary, told us after breakfast, all food may be cut off."

Gray said the sit down, which started last Wednesday, may resolve itself into an enforced hunger strike. It was understood food for 70 more members of the Alliance, camped at the Ohio State fair grounds, also would be cut off after this morning's meal.

There Long Enough

First indication that state officials planned to "starve out" the strikers came late yesterday when Adjutant General Emil F. Marx, whose national guardsmen have been charged with the task of feeding the delegation, said he believed "they have been there long enough."

Later Caren conferred with the Alliance "board of strategy" and told them of the state officials' decision.

Gray said Caren denied reports that efforts would be made to forcibly evict the delegation. He said Caren assured the strikers of continued lodging.

Gray told reporters that the delegation felt it had made "definite progress" in placing the Curtin bill before the legislature.

"We appeared before the house welfare committee and the committee members were favorably impressed," Gray said. "They will hold another meeting next Tuesday and we feel confident the committee will recommend the bill for passage."

Members of the legislature, however, ridiculed Gray's assertion, pointing out that state relief funds will be exhausted April 15 and that no more money is in sight unless new taxes are passed.

Gray said any attempt by the governor to cut off food supplies to the strikers "would indicate he is not seriously concerned with the problem of relief in Ohio.

Up to Officials

"We maintain state officials should and must assume the responsibility of feeding us during our stay here," Gray said.

Gray said Caren told him the delegation had "helped greatly in putting pressure on the legislature to reach some solution to the relief problem."

Appearing before the senate relief committee, which is considering a permanent relief bill providing a state appropriation of $7,000,000 for the rest of 1937, alliance members condemned the governor's soup-kitchen proposal.

"There shall be no soup kitchens and no national guard feeding in Ohio," Arnold Johnson, secretary of the Cuyahoga county alliance said. "Since when can soup kitchens provide fuel, clothing and shelter?"

Gray declared the alliance was not "going to be whipped into a panic by Governor Davey's antics. He denounced the bill being drawn by the committee, contending it would "mean the same thing as soup kitchens."

Lee Morgan, member of the Cincinnati Workers' Alliance, told the committee that relief case workers in Cincinnati had told Negro women to "go on the streets" for a living.

Asked by Chairman Bernard J. McCluskey, Cuyahoga, for the women's names, Morgan said he would supply them after the meeting. He later said, however, he would have them ready today.

Deadline Near

Meanwhile, members of the legislature appeared to be agreed the relief problem must be solved by the end of next week to avert a serious situation.

Most leaders of both houses expressed serious doubt whether the proposal to deduct costs from the appropriations bill would obtain much support now.

Sen. Emerson Campbell, D., Belmont, chairman of the senate finance committee, said the bill would be considered in the upper house next Tuesday.

The senator said he understood a number of taxation proposals would be discussed, including one of his own to finance relief from April 30, 1937 to Dec. 31, 1938.

The proposal, which Sen. Campbell said he believed would be "the least objectionable to a majority of people," provides for an increase from two per cent to seven per cent on productive investments, netting $4,591,000 and increases in the levies on bank deposits, credit, dealers in intangible, building and loan deposits, bank and building and loan shares and other items, raising another $4,424,000.

'Boost Liquor Price

It also provided for a 10 percent increase on wholesale and retail liquor prices, raising an estimated $7,800,000 in 19 months. Another $750,000 would be raised through issuance of state notes and a like sum through various reductions in the appropriations bill, netting a grand total of $18,315,000.

Sen. Campbell said if the legislature failed to enact the Nichols proposal to permit cities to levy excise taxes to meet their share of the relief load, a provision could be inserted in the permanent relief bill permitting the state to lend funds to municipalities.

Revenues from the additional intangible tax would be available beginning July 1, 1937, while the $750,000 from state notes and $416,000 from the tax on liquor profits would be immediately available.

Sen. Campbell also said many counties had funds that could be used for relief but that they were "covered up in such a manner as to deceive the state." He said investigation also showed the special levy on utilities which has been in effect for several years has provided a total of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 which could be used for poor aid purposes.

He estimated relief costs could be reduced "at least 40 percent" if the state relief commission were empowered to "clean up" the relief situation in counties and cities where there is evidence of "waste" and "flagrant violation."

PRINCIPALS MEET AGAIN

The stars of the original Broadway production of "Dodsworth"—Walter Huston, Nan Sunderland and Fay Bainter—are to get again next Monday night, April 12, in the Radio Theatre for the first complete radio production of the play. All three have the same roles they played in the Broadway run. "Dodsworth" was one of Sinclair Lewis' most successful novels. Sidney Howard adapted it for the stage and it ran a year on Broadway before going on an extended tour of the country. Within the past year, Huston starred in a movie version of "Dodsworth".

Cecil B. DeMille, director of the Radio Theatre, presents this full-length radio production of the story over the Columbia network at 9 p. m.

GRACE MOORE SINGS

A Scotch song, a plantation song, an operatic aria and a popular European tune make up Grace Moore's program for Saturday, April 10. With Vincent Lopez orchestra, she will be heard in the broadcast over the Columbia network at 9 p. m.

The Scotch song is "Annie Laurie"; the plantation melody is "Ma Curly Headed Baby"; and from her operatic repertoire Miss Moore has selected the Jewel Song from "Faust" for this program.

The European tune is "Oh, Joseph" from the operetta "Mme. Pompadour", by Leo Fall which has been very popular abroad. This is the first time Miss Moore has sung the number on the air.

SENATE MAY ADD CENT TO GAS TAX AND INCREASE LEVY ON ADMISSIONS

DEADLINE FOR RELIEF MONIES NEAR IN STATE

Sit-Down Visitors in Gov. Davey's Office Told Food Exhausted

LEGISLATURE TO ACT

Campbell Seeks Productive Investments Revenue

COLUMBUS, April 9.—(UP)—Faced with a complete stoppage of state-supplied food, a group of red-eyed, bedraggled relief sit-downers tightened their belts today, determined to "hold the fort" in Governor Davey's ornate state house reception room until they receive definite assurance of an "adequate" program to take care of the state's needy.

At the same time senate leaders, apparently weakening in their new-taxes stand, announced they would return to the capital Monday "prepared to stay over the week-end if necessary" in an attempt to push through a relief program to avoid the carrying out of Governor Davey's proposal to set up soup kitchens throughout the state.

Majority Floor Leader Kieth Lawrence, Cuyahoga, said the proposals most acceptable to the senate were an additional one-cent a gallon tax on gasoline and a combination proposal of an additional half-cent tax on liquid fuel and an increase in the admissions tax from three to 10 percent. Both proposals, he estimated, would raise about $5,000,000 for the rest of the year.

Demand Bills' Approval
Sen. Lawrence revealed the plan as the relief strike entered its third day. Strikers testified before the house welfare committee and the senate relief committee during the day.

PRINCIPALS MEET AGAIN

The stars of the original Broadway production of "Dodsworth"—Walter Huston, Nan Sunderland and Fay Bainter—are together again next Monday night, April 12, in the Radio Theatre for the first complete radio production of the play. All three have the same roles they played in the Broadway run.

"Dodsworth" was one of Sinclair Lewis' most successful novels. Sidney Howard adapted it for the stage and it ran a year on Broadway before going on an extended tour of the country. Within the past year, Huston starred in a movie version of "Dodsworth".

Cecil B. DeMille, director of the Radio Theatre, presents this full-length radio production of the story over the Columbia network at 9 p. m.

GRACE MOORE SINGS

A Scotch song, a plantation song, an operatic aria and a popular European tune make up Grace Moore's program for Saturday, April 10. With Vincent Lopez' orchestra, she will be heard in the broadcast over the Columbia network at 9 p. m.

The Scotch song is "Annie Laurie"; the plantation melody is "Ma Curly Headed Babby"; and from her operatic repertoire Miss Moore has selected the Jewel Song from "Faust" for this program.

The European tune is "Oh, Joseph" from the operetta "Mme. Pompadour", by Leo Fall which has been very popular abroad. This is the first time Miss Moore has sung the number on the air.

Some real estate changed owners in Ashville Friday. Joseph Pobst sold to E. W. Newton, the creamery man, land 30X50 feet immediately south of the creamery building. And to Grove & Rhodes, land 50X85 feet to the south and east of the buildings recently purchased from Stanley Beckett. The consideration was not named.

Ashville

White Leghorns Chosen

Among the people of the community who raise chickens for commercial egg production, the White Leghorn seems to be the favorite breed kept. Many chicks are coming through from the hatcheries from this and adjoining states to the brooder houses throughout the county. Most every farm home has in connection, a good sized chicken house of modern build, and with it, usually two or more brooder houses. And among the many near Ashville the one we have especially in mind is that of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Berger, five miles east of Ashville, in Walnut township. They have in laying now about 500 hens, White Leghorns, producing with slight variation around 20 dozen of chalk white eggs each day. And these are not just ordinary eggs as eggs go, the fowls producing them have been immuned against all kinds of diseases hen flesh is subject to. And for all this care and trouble, these eggs are sold to a chick hatchery at a nice premium over the ordinary kind—just eggs. And we are not forgetting our White Leghorn boys here at home. Walter and Roger Hedges who operate with modern equipment and lots of business.

Ashville

With Phone Company

Fred Welsh, who was here recently to visit his father, is located in Minneapolis where he has a really fine position with the telephone people. Fred, it will be recalled by quite a few of us, was quite young when he joined with the telephone force at Ashville then. The first charge of the office was Arthur Davis and wife, Hugh McManamy. Circleville now, serving as night operator. Young Welsh was a day man and did all kinds of work, anywhere to be done. He has been in the telephone service for more than thirty years and has earned, by hard work and close attention to business, the position he now holds.

Puerto Rico Stirred by Clash

DEATHS of seven Nationalists and injury of 40 others in clash at Ponce, chief city on the south coast of Puerto Rico, when police broke up a forbidden Nationalist parade, has created tension on the island. Gov. Blanton Winship, right, above, has taken personal charge of the investigation. It was the first serious clash since the Nationalist leader, Pedro Albizu Campos, left, above, was convicted in San Juan last summer on charges of sedition. The Nationalists assert that the United States is crushing a legitimate movement for complete freedom.

Ducks at "Stage" Pond

What is known far and wide as the "Stage Pond," located in Walnut township, is now the playground of hundreds of wild ducks, which stop over here for feed and rest while on their flight to the nesting grounds somewhere in northern U. S. or Canada. "And that old pond is just alive with what seems to be millions of fish, bullheads and most every kind," Dennis Brinker said to us yesterday.

This pond covers near 50 acres of land and is fed from springs and backwater from the river. Just why the State Board of Conservation of wild life is not interested, we do not know.

Spooners Crack Light Bulbs

HONOLULU (UP)—The city council has decided that broken electric light bulbs about the city are due principally to "spooners" who prefer the Hawaiian moonlight to any artificial lighting. As a consequence, it has decided to approve a bill for $800 for broken lights and make no inquiries.

DRIVER, 91, GIVES TIPS

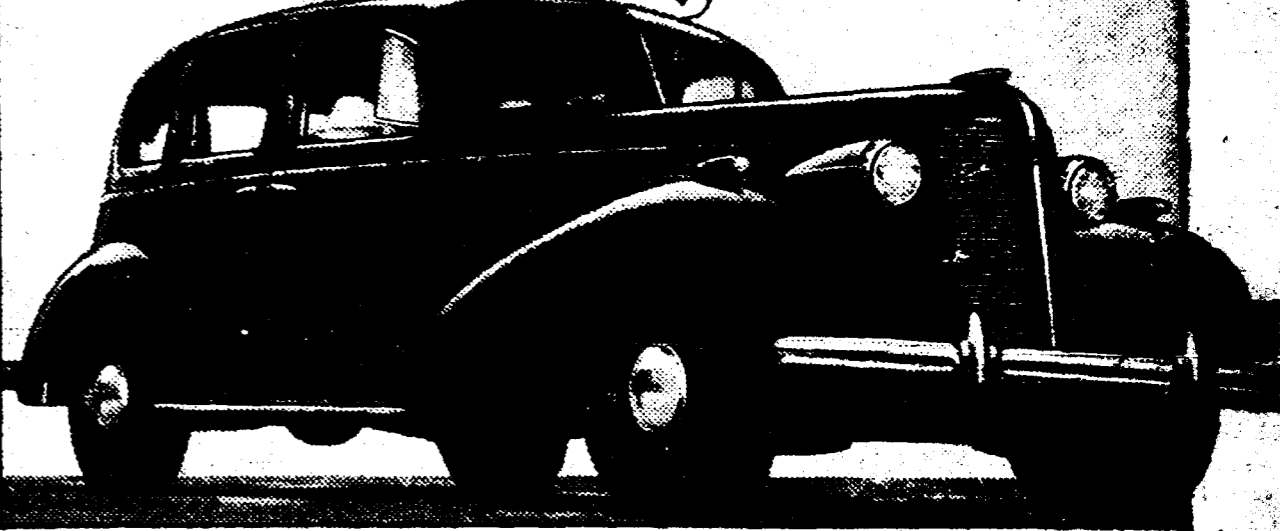

PUEBLO, Col. (UP)—If you want to avoid collisions "keep your feet near the brakes," is the

In Colorado, in an accident.

THE LEAD IS YOURS with this ACE to play!

HERE's the kind of picture you can make this summer—if you hitch your wagon to this star performer and travel the Buick way!

The lead is yours whenever you want it with Buick's great valve-in-head straight-eight engine to pour out torrential power at your call.

Ease rides with you in the driver's seat—full-out or coasting, handling this phenomenal car takes about the same effort as handling your favorite rocking-chair!

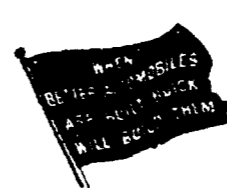

Under your foot are the smoothest, surest brakes that ever brought you to a smooth, straight stop—all around you is the room you want and the comfort you've pictured in the car of your dreams—here's a ride as level as an honest man's glance—a car to be as proud of as your baby!

Why should you follow the leader, when your Buick can show fleet heels to the whole roadful of cars? Why should you be satisfied with sixes—when this great straight-eight, bellwether car of the year costs only a soon-forgotten fraction more than the average kind?

It's an ace for power and an ace for steady buoyant travel—it's a winner for smart new style, and a sure trick taker for frugal ways and wear-defying toughness. Play your trumps and the game is yours—so give us the word, and you'll be driving this sensational beauty before the weather turns really warm.

SNOW BARRIERS IN BLUE RIDGE AREA REDUCED

WASHINGTON (UP)—Converting 176,519 acres of the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia into Shenandoah National Park disclosed some interesting things about mountaineer life.

Some 432 families comprising 2,250 individuals were moved by the National Parks Service from the picturesque area to lands better suited to farming and more accessible to schools, employment, churches and medical care.

Communities within walking distance of Skyland, a popular summer resort for a generation, have been snowbound year after year by six and seven feet of snow. There and in the valleys elsewhere in the new park, church and school attendance became impossible in the winter months.

A doctor had never entered the home of six children, although one was called last winter when one of the children had double pneumonia.

"The snow was so deep he could not get there," said the mother. "So we just did the best we could. We're still living."

When officials seeking a lonely mountain cabin asked their way, mountaineers sometimes volunteered to guide them because of the difficulty of finding one's way by directions, although a walk of from three to ten miles might be necessary, over rocky and thorny trails.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary—and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk," it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Park Avenue Logger," George O'Brien's latest outdoor picture opens today at the Cliftona Theatre to provide the audience with an hour of thrilling action set against a background of picturesque ruggedness.

Supported by such able players as Beatrice Roberts, Bert Hanlon, Gertrude Short, Willard Robertson and Ward Bond, George O'Brien is cast in the role of a social lion who is employed in the New York office of his father, a wealthy lumber magnate. As dissatisfied with his colorless position as the father is with his apparently soft mannered son, O'Brien manages to be sent to one of the company's mammoth lumber camps, there to learn the logging business from the hot-tempered foreman.

AT THE GRAND

"My how times change," may be just a bromide but Dick Foran realized the truth of it when he talked to six Indians with whom he had a running fight in a scene from the Warner Bros. Western, "California Mail," now showing at the Grand Theatre.

Four were college graduates, one a practicing lawyer and another was an enterprising real estate broker.

AT THE CIRCLE

Veteran western star, hero of millions, Tom Tyler is a staunch believer in the theory that the old west is forever new. He demonstrates the truth of his belief again in his new picture, "Santa Fe Bound," which Reliable brings to the Circle theatre tonight and Saturday.

In "Santa Fe Bound," he portrays the role of a mystery rider who comes upon a renegade in the bush, shooting an old man down from cover. From that instant in which Tyler opens fire on his own account—until the last spectacular fade-out, the story brings thrill upon thrill and each one is different.

Joanne Martel has the feminine lead. The supporting cast includes Richard Kramer, Charles Whittaker, Ed Cassidy, Lyle McKee, Dorothy Woods, Charles King and Earl Dwire.

Children grow fast, and you don't realize that Daughter has reached courting age till you see her planting porch vines.

COURT OF HONOR SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY AT 7:30

Perle Whitehead to Talk at Gathering Planned in

INSTITUTE ARRANGED

Local Troops to Review
Youths for Ceremony

The quarterly Court of Honor for Pickaway district Boy Scout troops will be held Monday, April 19, at 7:30 p. m. at Memorial Hall. Ed Ebert is chairman of the Committee on Scout Advancement. He will be in charge, assisted by members of the district committee and troop leaders.

A program of special interest to parents is being developed for the Court. Perle Whitehead, deputy regional executive, of Cincinnati, will speak to Scouts and parents relating his experiences at the World Jamboree held in England a few years ago. Whitehead addressed the Circleville Chamber of Commerce a short time ago with this talk, and several local parents and Scouters have requested that he return for this Court of Honor.

New Scouts of Circleville and Pickaway county will be invested in a special ceremony, during the evening. Awards will be made to Scouts who have passed certain requirements to advance them in Scout rank. This will be the first district Court of Honor held locally since the reorganization last fall.

Local troops will hold boards of review, conducted by troop committees in advance of the Court of Honor, in order to recommend Scouts for advancement. The Court of Honor is a recognition ceremony with no examination, but only formal presentations of awards to the boys.

SNOW BARRIERS IN BLUE RIDGE AREA REDUCED

WASHINGTON (UP)—Converting 176,519 acres of the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia into Shenandoah National Park disclosed some interesting things about mountaineer life.

Some 432 families comprising 2,250 individuals were moved by the National Parks Service from the picturesque area to lands better suited to farming and more accessible to schools, employment, churches and medical care.

Communities within walking distance of Skyland, a popular summer resort for a generation, have been snowbound year after year by six and seven feet of snow. There and in the valleys elsewhere in the new park, church and school attendance became impossible in the winter months.

A doctor had never entered the home of six children, although one was called last winter when one of the children had double pneumonia.

"The snow was so deep he could not get there," said the mother, "so we just did the best we could. We're still living."

When officials seeking a lonely mountain cabin asked their way, mountaineers sometimes volunteered to guide them because of the difficulty of finding one's way by directions, although a walk of from three to ten miles might be necessary, over rocky and thorny trails.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary—and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk," it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoons daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THEATRES

"Park Avenue Logger," George O'Brien's latest outdoor picture opens today at the Cliftona Theatre to provide the audience with an hour of thrilling action set against a background of picturesque ruggedness.

Supported by such able players as Beatrice Roberts, Bert Hanlon, Gertrude Short, Willard Robertson and Ward Bond, George O'Brien is cast in the role of a social lion who is employed in the New York office of his father, a wealthy lumber magnate. As dissatisfied with his colorless position as the father is with his apparently soft mannered son, O'Brien manages to be sent to one of the company's mammoth lumber camps, there to learn the logging business from the bottom up.

AT THE GRAND

"My how times change," may be just a bromide but Dick Foran realized the truth of it when he talked to six Indians with whom he had a running fight in a scene from the Warner Bros. Western, "California Mail," now showing at the Grand Theatre.

Four were college graduates, one a practicing lawyer and another was an enterprising real estate broker.

AT THE CIRCLE

Veteran western star, hero of millions, Tom Tyler is a staunch

believer in the theory that the old west is forever new. He demonstrates the truth of his belief again in his new picture, "Santa Fe Bound," which Reliable brings to the Circle theatre tonight and Saturday.

In "Santa Fe Bound," he portrays the role of a mystery rider who comes upon a renegade in the bush, shooting an old man down from cover. From that instant—in which Tyler opens fire on his own account—until the last spectacular fade-out, the story brings thrill upon thrill and each one is different.

Jeanne Martel has the feminine lead. The supporting cast includes Richard Kramer, Charles Whittaker, Ed Cassidy, Lyle McKee, Dorothy Woods, Charles King and Earl Dwire.

Children grow fast, and you don't realize that Daughter has reached courting age till you see her planting porch vines.

Chamber of Commerce Told Highway in Tentative List For Improvement

COST SET AT $400,000

Over Two Million Ready For Flood Districts

Route 22, just west of Circleville, has been included in a tentative program of projects submitted for federal aid by the state highway department, Mack Parrett, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was informed Thursday in a letter from R. E. Toms, action chief of the bureau of public roads, U. S. Department of Commerce.

"The project is described as about 2.2 miles in length and calls for raising grade, paving, new trestle and a channel clean-out, estimated to cost a total of $400,000, of which $200,000 are federal funds," the letter says.

"No further action by this bureau can be taken until necessary plans for the project are submitted by the state highway department."

C. of C. Interested

The Chamber of Commerce recently became interested in the project, and Mr. Parrett was asked to obtain information about the improvement. The road has been improved at various times but is annually damaged by flood waters from the Scioto river.

"Federal emergency funds in the amount of $2,116,000 have been allocated to the State of Ohio for use in the repair and reconstruction of highways and bridges on the system of federal-aid highways which were damaged or destroyed by floods in January and February of this year," Mr. Toms' letter explains.

"All projects financed with these funds will be initiated by the state highway department and submitted to bureau in a manner similar to that for other federal-aid projects under our jurisdiction."

Henry McCrady, local resident engineer, said he had received no information about the project. He said plans had been submitted at various times for improving the road but he did not know what ones would be considered.

At last we know why Americans were so long superior in athletics. The other races weren't interested.

CHILD WELFARE IS STRESSED BY SOCIAL SECURITY

COLUMBUS, April 9 — (UP) — Plans for expanding Ohio's child welfare services, under the Social Security Act assists rural counties in caring for thousands of neglected and dependent children who cannot be kept in their own homes, were laid today by Miss T. Gertrude Fortune, superintendent of the state charities division.

Under the program, attempts are being made to avoid delinquencies among these children, especially in the state's smaller counties which do not possess adequate child-caring agencies. The state, upon requests from these counties, sends skilled workers into the counties to cope with special children's problems.

The program is already operating in six Ohio counties, including Athens, Carroll, Clermont, Geauga, Jackson and Paulding counties.

Plans are now being made to extend the program to about 10 more counties. Extension of the program will depend upon the initiative of the various counties desirous of improving their child welfare services, Miss Fortune said.

No direct grants for the work are made to the counties but state assistance only is rendered.

SOCIAL AID COSTS
COLUMBUS, April 9 — (UP) — The aid to dependent children phase of the Social Security program cost the federal and state governments and Ohio counties a total of $306,332 during March, the division of public assistance reported today. Each governmental unit paid one-third of the cost, the program affording aid to 25,901 children of whom 24,275 were under 16 years of age. Under the aid to the blind phase of the program, 3,641 persons received grants totaling $62,550 last month.

"The project is described as about 2.2 miles in length and calls for raising grade, paving, new trestle and a channel clean-out, estimated to cost a total of $400,000, of which $200,000 are federal funds," the letter says.

"No further action by this bureau can be taken until necessary plans for the project are submitted by the state highway department."

C. of C. Interested
The Chamber of Commerce recently became interested in the project, and Mr. Parrett was asked to obtain information about the improvement. The road has been improved at various times but is annually damaged by flood waters from the Scioto river.

"Federal emergency funds in the amount of $2,116,000 have been allocated to the State of Ohio for use in the repair and reconstruction of highways and bridges on the system of federal-aid highways which were damaged or destroyed by floods in January and February of this year," Mr. Toms' letter explains. "All projects financed with these funds will be initiated by the state highway department and submitted to bureau in a manner similar to that for other federal-aid projects under our jurisdiction."

Henry McCrady, local resident engineer, said he had received no information about the project. He said plans had been submitted at various times for improving the road but he did not know what ones would be considered.

At last we know why Americans were so long superior in athletics. The other races weren't interested.

CHILD WELFARE IS STRESSED BY SOCIAL SECURITY

COLUMBUS, April 9 — (UP) — Plans for expanding Ohio's child welfare services, under the Social Security Act assists rural counties in caring for thousands of neglected and dependent children who cannot be kept in their own homes, were laid today by Miss T. Gertrude Fortune, superintendent of the state charities division.

Under the program, attempts are being made to avoid delinquencies among these children, especially in the state's smaller counties which do not possess adequate child-caring agencies. The state, upon requests from these counties, sends skilled workers into the counties to cope with special children's problems.

The program is already operating in six Ohio counties, including Athens, Carroll, Clermont, Geauga, Jackson and Paulding counties. Plans are now being made to extend the program to about 10 more counties. Extension of the program will depend upon the initiative of the various counties desirous of improving their child welfare services, Miss Fortune said.

No direct grants for the work are made to the counties but state assistance only is rendered.

SOCIAL AID COSTS

COLUMBUS, April 9 — (UP) — The aid to dependent children phase of the Social Security program cost the federal and state governments and Ohio counties a total of $308,332 during March, the division of public assistance reported today. Each governmental unit paid one-third of the cost, the program affording aid to 25,901 children of whom 24,275 were under 16 years of age. Under the aid to the blind phase of the program, 3,641 persons received grants totaling $62,550 last month.

OPEN LETTERS

TO REV. TOENSMEIER

PASTOR: Your decision to resign the Presbyterian charge you have filled so ably for the last 11 years surprised many of your friends. Your pastorate in Circleville has been filled with a continuous effort to make Circleville and Pickaway county a better place in which to live. As president of the County Ministerial association you did much noble work for the good of the communities served. Your parish has benefitted by the fact that you have been its leader. The congregation will have a difficult time obtaining a pastor who devoted his entire time in working for the community and for God as you have done during the 11 years you have served your church. The good wishes of all who have known you will follow you in whatever endeavor you undertake.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: The large balance available in the Pickaway county fund to be used for relief is a credit to efficient and careful management. While many of Ohio's counties were spending money right and left during the earlier years of the need for large relief appropriations, Pickaway county was being careful. Despite the economy shown, there has been very little, if any, suffering. Circleville will not need a "soup kitchen" even if the state's relief funds are exhausted. I sincerely hope relief officials in charge of the county work will continue to exercise care and economy in administration of all funds available, at the same time caring for all needy persons.

TO POLICE DEPARTMENT

OFFICERS: Did the arrest of a young woman this week mean that the campaign against the "numbers" racket is continuing? Statements were issued several weeks ago that all who had anything to do with the numbers would feel the strong arm of the law. So far one man has been arrested twice, another was fined once, and then came the young woman. Are these three persons the only ones who have been writing numbers? If they are and the racket has been broken up, all is well; if there are others, why not do something about it?

CIRCUITEER

TO STOOGUE CLUB

YOUTHS: Approval by the board of education of your project to provide the high school football field with lights opens the way for an intensive campaign which, I hope, will see the Tiger gridiron well-lighted before the start of next fall's games. Much money will be needed; much effort will be necessary on the part of every member of the Stogie Club before the undertaking can be realized. Approval by the city's educators should speed you to a real effort, and I am sure scores of business firms and individuals will be ready to contribute. Erection of proper lights at the school field should be a good investment. Where night games are played, attendance has more than doubled. Merchants and their clerks, busy during the day, will be provided an opportunity to watch the various high school teams in action. I hope all persons who are at all athletic-minded will get behind the program and help it by their contributions.

CIRCUITEER

(Note: The Stogie Club is comprised of youths, graduates or upper classmen of Circleville high school. Several splendid projects have been completed under direction of these active boys in the last few years.)

TO PROSPECTIVE BUILDERS

FOLK: From reports made in the last few weeks by building supply dealers, Circleville contractors are going to enjoy a busy Spring and Summer. If you are planning homes why not consult someone who has been trained in whatever line of construction you plan. All building supply dealers are at your command at this time of the year. They know the many problems you have in completing all details necessary before actual work can start. There may be a scarcity of labor in the building industry, just as there was a year ago. I urge you to get started at once. Complete arrangements for your lot, if you do not have one, then see someone about the residence plan. It behooves you to act NOW.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY GRANGERS

FRIENDS: The record crowds attending the series of initiations held throughout Pickaway county's granges prove that the work of the rural groups is appealing to all who participate. When nearly 300 farmers, including wives and children, can find time at this season of the year to attend meetings, and study rituals in order to present them in the proper manner, it is proof that the grange work is successful. Much credit is due the county leaders for the splendid programs they have arranged. The Circuiteer hopes with you that the work during the many years to come will mean as much to the farm folk of our county as it has in the past. Pickaway county's grange organization ranks among the best in the state, and I hope it continues to maintain that record.

TO COUNTY MUSICIANS

BOYS, GIRLS: The 300 persons, who attended the musical program presented by the members of the youth division of the county Council of Religious Education, last Sunday, were highly pleased with the many beautiful selections played and sung during the afternoon. It seems to me that your organization is missing a chance to really put the youth division "on the map". Why not repeat the performance in New Holland, or in Ashville, or Williamsport, or Commercial Point, and let residents of these communities, who were not able to attend the Circleville presentation, know what you are doing. Much credit is due Miss Mary Tolbert, Walnut teacher, and the instrumental and vocal instructors of the various schools for the work done. More programs, of various nature, put on by the youth division, would help make it a very popular organization.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Signs multiply that President Roosevelt and congress decidedly differ as to the best method of reorganizing governmental machinery in the interest of greater compactness, enhanced efficiency and reduced expenditures.

The presidential plan calls for more executive authority over Uncle Sam's use of his money.

Congress apparently is disinclined to yield it.

The issue is mightily important. Congress always has been supposed to have control over the national purse strings. The theory is that the president can't get far with any scheme of his executive unless it is legislatively financed.

CONGRESS' ATTITUDE

Congress traditionally has been hostile to any attempt to deprive it of the least modicum of this veto power, hitherto exercised by it, over presidential policies.

However, it has been inconvenient for the legislators to keep an eye upon each item of executive spending.

Therefore, something more than 15 years ago, it created the office of comptroller general of the United States, to be filled by a functionary charged with the job of checking each item of executive output, and with congressional authority to overrule it if he saw fit, speaking in congress' name regardless of the White House's opinion in the matter.

POST UNFILLED

In order to keep this official entirely independent of political influences it was provided that the incumbent was to be guaranteed a 15-year term, irremovable except for misconduct, but ineligible to reappointment.

John Raymond McCarl got the post.

He proved to be an ideal deputy from congress' standpoint everlastingly overruling expenditures which executive folk considered all right; but of course his decisions have been anathema to the government's executive branch.

But recently his 15-year term expired.

Since then the president, who is supposed to refill the office has not done so. Richard N. Elliott, previously McCarl's assistant, has been acting comptroller general—not on a 15-year basis but from day to day.

A DIFFERENCE

Naturally this makes Elliott a purely political office holder, dependent upon executive tolerance.

It is not a satisfactory situation as a permanency.

Accordingly the executive commission on governmental reorganization proposes the assimilation of the general accounting office into the treasury department, its duty being to decide, AFTER expenditures have been made, whether or not they were legitimate.

The congressional committee on reorganization, however, proposes the strengthening of a setup to PREVENT illegal expenditures from being made.

That is the nub: Prevention of illegality, too late to do anything about it.

AS STEWART SEES IT

There are two governmental reorganization setups:

1. The president's, under direction of Louis Brownlow, which aims at executive consolidation, and probably, at increased efficiency of a Fascist sort.

2. Congress', under the auspices of Chairman (Senator) Harry F. Byrd's joint congressional committee, seeking reorganization along democratic lines.

It is not a split between the two parties. It is a split across both of them.

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, of a London law firm, reluctantly has agreed to a scheme to defraud the daughter of one of his few respectable clients, Jacqueline Smith, of an inheritance of $1,000,000 from an American uncle. In keeping with the plan, Col. Alex Lutman is stopping at the same hotel in Cincinnati with Mrs. Smith and her daughter. In dire financial straits, Mrs. Smith has persuaded Jacqueline to marry Asson, posing as a wealthy Englishman, unsuspectingly falling in with the plan of the three men to have the inheritance before she learns of it. Jacqueline's decision by revealing a check he cashed for her mother returned marked "insufficient funds." After meeting Jacqueline, Stuckey is more reluctant than ever to go through with the scheme and stalls by telling them all the property deed must be signed in London. Back in London Charles leaves Lutman in his office while he goes after Jim Asson. Mrs. Smith and Jacqueline arrive at Stuckey's office to sign the deed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 20

"MY DEAR," said Jacqueline's mother gently when her daughter, in Stuckey's office, began to grow suspicious about signing the deed, "you must remember that you are dealing with English gentlemen, and they naturally wish that you should be safeguarded in every possible way. If Mr. Stuckey will be good enough to produce the document, we will get it signed at once."

"Just a minute, please, mother. There are one or two points I'd like cleared up before I sign. I want to ask Charles about them."

"Very well," agreed Mrs. Smith. "You and I will have a little chat with Mr. Stuckey, shall we?"

"If you're getting married too, mother, yes. Otherwise, I'd rather talk to Charles alone."

"My dear, that hardly seems necessary."

"It's quite unnecessary," said Jim Asson. "Goodness knows what there is to make all this fuss about. The thing's quite straightforward."

Lutman silenced him with a look.

"It seems to me, Jacqueline," he said, "that if Mr. Stuckey assures you that the deed is all in order and very much to your advantage..."

"It seems to be," interrupted Charles, with a sudden harshness in his voice, "that if Miss Jacqueline wishes to consult me in private, she is perfectly entitled to do so."

Lutman glared at him; Mrs. Smith glared at him; Jim Asson glared at him. But, since Jacqueline rewarded his outburst with an approving smile, the glarings seemed to Charles of very little consequence.

"It's just a waste of time," grumbled Jim Asson. "It's quite an ordinary marriage settlement."

Jacqueline turned on him with angry eyes.

"Yes, but it's my marriage settlement, and it concerns me more than you, and if I want to talk to Charles about it I'm going to do so, and if you or anyone else tries any more to prevent me, I shall drop the whole thing."

"Quite right," said Charles, and faced another battery of glares.

"I must say, Mr. Stuckey," began Mrs. Smith, frecklingly, "that your attitude strikes me as most extraordinary."

"You can take it or leave it, mother," Jacqueline. "Either I speak to Charles alone or the whole thing's off. I can't see what you're all here for, anyway. I could perfectly well have come and seen Charles and signed the deed alone. I don't need three of you to help me write my name."

"So ungrateful!" sighed Mrs. Smith. "After coming all this way through those dreadful streets and waiting goodness knows how long in a musty old office..."

"The best thing you can do, mother, is to go home—by taxi," advised Jacqueline. "I'll be along later. Go and call a taxi, please, Jim—and there's no need for you to come back. I'll see you later, too."

Jim went sulkily toward the

"Nothing tremendous ever happens to me, Jacqueline" door, and Jacqueline turned to the Colonel and held out her hand.

"Goodbye, Colonel," she said. "Thank you so much for arranging everything. If you want to do another good deed, send mother home, will you? If you're very nice to her I daresay she'll let you pay the taxi fare."

The Colonel screwed in his eye-glass and smiled at Mrs. Smith.

"If you will honor me by lunching with me, Mrs. Smith..."

"I'm really not fit to be seen, Colonel, but if you don't mind taking a rag-bag to lunch..."

At the door, Mrs. Smith paused and glanced back.

"I hope, Jacqueline," she said, "that you will allow no one to dissuade you from doing your duty to yourself and your mother; and, with a parting glare at Charles, she followed the Colonel from the room."

Jacqueline turned to Charles with a smile.

"Charles, we are alone! And now we can talk."

"Fine," said Charles. "I say, it's nice to see you again."

"Do sit down," went on Charles, as he pulled a chair forward. "This one's been dusted this morning. As a matter of fact, the whole office has been dusted—windows and everything."

Jacqueline sat down with a smile. "Even the old gentleman outside?"

Charles shook his head. "That is old Bells, my chief clerk. He's been here as long as the river Thames, and if I had him dusted I'm afraid he would resign. Do you like my office?"

Jacqueline glanced round. "It is a perfect setting for Mr. Bells," she said.

Charles frowned. "And for me?"

She shook her head. "For the 'Mouthpiece' perhaps, but not for you. Charles, are you quite sure you don't drink? Because if it isn't drink, what is it?"

You can't tell me this is where you ought to be."

Charles gave a shrug. "Here I am, anyway."

"Yes, I know. You're queer, you know, Charles—such a nice man really, and yet such a dreadful coward."

"Coward?" Charles' face showed pain and indignation. Jacqueline nodded.

"Yes, a coward. I believe so, time, place and nature of the event."

DIET AND HEALTH

Scraped Raw Apple Aid in Medical Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE OLD SAW about keeping the doctor away with an apple has had a sudden rejuvenation in the growing use of scraped raw apples as a method of treatment.

It was first used by Heiler, a general practitioner, in Koenigsburg, Germany, who observed that infants with dysentery fed on scraped raw apples improved faster than with any other treatment he ever had observed.

At first he tried it in combination with other usual diets for this condition, and then selected a series of cases to which he gave only scraped raw apples. In this series patients made a more complete recovery than any other series.

His paper, published in 1928, came to the attention of Professor Moro, the head of the department of diseases of children of Heidelberg, who tried it out and substantiated all of Heiler's findings. The system of treatment has come to be known as the Moro-Heiler Two-Day Apple Diet.

Claims made for this are: (1) The exclusive use of raw ripe apples brings an almost immediate symptomatic relief to infants ill with various types of bowel infection; (2) the temperature drops within the first 24 hours; (3) the number and consistency of the stools change abruptly at the onset of treatment; (4) at least 90 per cent of the cases, regardless of severity, are symptomatic well within 48 hours; (5) there is difficulty experienced in relapsing some cases to milk diet, relapses occurring which require additional days of apple treatment.

Absorbs Poison

The method by which this acts is puzzling. It is generally supposed that there is some ingredient in the scraped apple which has the effect of absorbing the poisonous products of the bacterial infection of the intestine.

The treatment has been broadened to apply to other conditions. For instance, to prepare patients for surgical operations. One such case concerned a minor operation under general anesthesia, lasting 10 minutes, performed on a young woman 24 years of age. This patient intended to go home the evening of the surgical procedure, but it was three days before she was well enough, and had recovered from her other sickness, to leave the hospital. Six months later it was necessary to do a more severe operation on this patient. Remembering the previous experience she was instructed to eat 15 apples a day for several days before the operation. Results were quite astonishing. She had no post-operative nausea, and a complete absence of post-operative intestinal colic.

The action of raw apple pulp is somewhat similar to that seen in the intestinal disturbance known as spew, sometimes found in the southern part of the United States. This can be cured practically without the use of medication by a diet consisting of strawberries and viscous products such as liver and kidney.

If the simple scraped raw apple is added to other articles of diet, such as milk, it is not so likely to give good results.

SPRING HATS REACH FORWARD, UPWARD

Shapes Are Odd But Becoming

Black silk satin afternoon hat with toyo brim and butterfly bow.

By LISBETH

At first glance hats are wild this year. They may be tiny or wide brimmed; they may sit forward practically on your nose, or at the very back of your head. They may be plainly tailored or have fetching and colorful posies trimming them—but they all have unusual shapes and decorations oddly placed.

At second glance you will find, however, that they are not hard to wear, and there are types for each kind and age of women—really becoming shapes. The sweet young things look adorable in the off-the-face shapes that show their faces; and they can wear the cockiest of tiny hats with flat crowns that tilt forward on their dainty noses. The older woman must use caution, but she, too, can find veiled or brimmed hats that softly shade the face and add to its charm.

The striking chapeau that illustrates the story is made of lustrous black silk satin, with a toyo brim and a butterfly bow reaching toward the sky.

Most of the hats show considerable of the hair, so care must be taken to dress tresses to make the ensemble pleasing. You will notice the sleek roll of the models' hair in this picture, and how well it sets off the homburg brim of the hat.

Shapes Are Odd But Becoming

Black silk satin afternoon hat with toyo brim and butterfly bow.

By LISBETH

At first glance hats are wild this year. They may be tiny or wide brimmed; they may sit forward practically on your nose, or at the very back of your head. They may be plainly tailored or have fetching and colorful posies trimming them—but they all have unusual shapes and decorations oddly placed.

At second glance you will find, however, that they are not hard to wear, and there are types for each kind and age of women—really becoming shapes. The sweet young things look adorable in the off-the-face shapes that show their faces; and they can wear the cockiest of tiny hats with flat crowns that tilt forward on their dainty noses. The older woman must use caution, but she, too, can find veiled or brimmed hats that softly shade the face and add to its charm.

The striking chapeau that illustrates the story is made of lustrous black silk satin, with a toyo brim and a butterfly bow reaching toward the sky.

Most of the hats show considerable of the hair, so care must be taken to dress tresses to make the ensemble pleasing. You will notice the sleek roll of the model's hair in this picture, and how well it sets off the homburg brim of the hat.

INTEREST GREAT IN CAGE JOUST OF SCHOOLBOYS

All Teams Receive Expense Money and $50 Bonus Out of Receipts

Record Set in 1935 Stands at 8,244 Persons

COLUMBUS, April 9. (UP)—

An emphatic answer to critics who claimed interest in scholastic basketball tournaments in Ohio was on the decline had been provided here today with the release by the Ohio High School Athletic Association of the receipts for the annual state meet held here last month.

The 1937 tournament, which found Hamilton and Columbus Upper Arlington winning the championships, proved the greatest "box office" attraction in history. A total of 25,335 fans witnessed the 32 schoolboy teams in action during their three days here. Total receipts for the tournament were $11,888.56.

The highest previous mark in history was the 1935 tournament, when, with the Waterloo Wonders as the gate magnet, receipts were $11,320.26. The total attendance then was 20,688.

Bonus of $50

In addition to receiving their full expense money this season each of the 32 schools that competed in the state tournament received a bonus of $50.

It marked the second time in history a bonus had been paid. The other occasion was 1935 when each of the 35 then competing were given $100.

Commissioner H. R. Townsend said the failure of the tournament a year ago when receipts totaled only $7,163.16 and resulted in the state association receiving but $524.75 was the factor which prevented a larger bonus being paid this season.

The state association this year received $4,073.17 as its "out." Expense of the competing teams

RAW ROCKS

MOST VALUABLE player in the American association in 1936, Rudy Preston York hopes to become one of the most valuable rookies of the new season as a member of the Detroit Tigers.

Rudy has been up before, but was sent back to the minors for more salt and pepper. He now makes his bid from Milwaukee, where he swatted for .334 in 157 games, scoring 119 runs, 207 hits, including 25 doubles, 21 triples and 37 home runs.

An infielder, Rudy will make Hank Greenberg step to hold the first sack, and keep Marvin Owen hustling at third. Anyway, it looks as if Rudy won't have to trek back to the minors this year.

Originally a catcher in the Texas league, Rudy is a smart player. He bats and throws right-handed. Stands over six feet and packs more than 210 pounds in weight. He was born in Cartersville, Ga., in 1913 and makes his home at Atco, Ga. He is Irish-German with reported trace of Indian blood.

were $5,473.67 and tournament costs $2,341.72.

The finals that sent Hamilton against Massillon and Upper Arlington against Lockland drew more fans than any other session. The attendance for these games was 6,163.

The all-time high for a single session was set when 8,244 fans paid to see the finals of the 1935 tournament between Akron North and Coshocton in Class "A" and Waterloo and Oxford Stewart in Class "B."

SENATORS ON WAY

ORLANDO, Fla., April 9. (UP)—The Washington Senators took a last look at Florida today until next training season. They left for Chattanooga, Tenn., where they play their Southern league farm club a series of three games over the week-end. The Senators barely defeated the minor leaguers, 4-3, yesterday.

Dog Trainers, Fanciers To Meet at Yellowbud

Dog trainers and fanciers from throughout Ohio and nearby states will gather at Yellowbud Saturday and Sunday for the spring field trials of the Pickaway Country Bird Dog Club.

HARDER CLUBBED, FELLER BLANKS NEW YORK CREW

HELENA, Ark., April 9. (UP)—The barnstorming New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians moved in here today for the 11th game of their extended spring series.

The Giants evened the series at five games apiece by winning yesterday's engagement at Fort Smith, Ark., by a 9 to 2 count, but the big question in the minds of the players on the National League's pennant winning outfit of a year ago was:

"When are we going to get our first hit off Bob Feller?"

Feller, the Indians' schoolboy phenomenon faced the Giants for the third time in two weeks yesterday and the New Yorkers have yet to collect a hit off him after swinging at his offerings for 11 innings.

In his first out against the Giants Feller worked three innings and fanned six men. On his next appearance he held them hitless again for five innings and set six more down on strikes.

The Iowa youngster went three innings yesterday, did not grant a hit and struck out four, to bring his strikeout victims to 16 in 11 innings toiled against Bill Terry's team.

The power of the young speedball ace at the gate was proved again yesterday when 8,000 fans turned out to see him hurl.

When Feller left the box the Indians had a 1 to 0 lead, but it was wiped out quickly after Mel Harder went to the mound. Harder was hammered for six runs in the fifth inning, two more in the seventh and one in the eighth. All told he gave up 12 hits.

After scoring in the second Cleveland's only other run came in the ninth round of a long home run by Earl Averill.

About This And That In Many Sports

Cardinals Want Riggs

Even if Charlie Dressen, of the Cincinnati Reds, does not want Lew Riggs at third base, favoring Johnny Outlaw, he is not trading him to the St. Louis Cardinals. Branch Rickey, it is reported, wants Riggs, but the price Dressen's bosses have put on the pugnacious hot corner guardian is too high. . . .

Softball Parley Tonight

Persons interested in the softball league should go to George Hammel's office in the K. of P. building this evening to map plans for an organization. — Mr. Hammel has served during the last two years as president of the league. — A loop of six or eight teams is sought. . . .

Circleville Invited

Circleville high school has been invited to participate in the annual Ohio Wesleyan relay, to be held May 1 at Selby field, Delaware. — It is probable several Red and Black athletes will participate. — Toledo Scott and Upper Arlington, class A and B, respectively, are defending champions. . . .

Writer Displeased

Earl Hickie, who writes for the New Holland Leader, is not pleased with the action of the county school superintendents in changing the rules of management of the various county contests. — This week he wrote: . . .

HIDE THEIR TIME

IT HAS always seemed peculiar to us how the superintendents of schools in eastern Pickaway county can bide their time until some public event approaches, in which the New Holland school looms as probable favorites. . . . then step forward, assemble themselves in a very enthusiastic body and revise contest rulings to suit themselves.

It has happened time and again, with such consistency that one can't help think that it is pure jealousy and antagonism that prompts those superintendents to make those moves.

After all . . . what can one superintendent hope to accomplish pitted against 10 to 11 opponents?

The most recent assemblage of the group was last week. The prominent result of their meeting was the revision of the rule saying that the school winning the basketball tournament shall manage it the following year. Pickaway township won it this year, they will manage it next year.

Why is that peculiar? Because New Holland plays host to the track meet this spring, and it has become history that New Holland annually walks away with track meets. And—it has been the rule that the winner of the track meet shall manage the tournament.

New Holland has managed three tournaments out of a four in the total of four years.

What are your conclusions concerning the inner aspect of the new ruling?

HARDER CLUBBED, FELLER BLANKS NEW YORK CREW

HELENA, Ark., April 9.—(UP)—The barnstorming New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians moved in here today for the 11th game of their extended spring series.

The Giants evened the series at five games apiece by winning yesterday's engagement at Fort Smith, Ark., by a 9 to 2 count, but the big question in the minds of the players on the National league's pennant winning outfit of a year ago was:

"When are we going to get our first hit off Bob Feller?"

Feller, the Indians' schoolboy phenomenon faced the Giants for the third time in two weeks yesterday and the New Yorkers have yet to collect a hit off him after swinging at his offerings for 11 innings.

In his first out against the Giants Feller worked three innings and fanned six men. On his next appearance he held them hitless again for five innings and set six more down on strikes.

The Iowa youngster went three innings yesterday, did not grant a hit and struck out four, to bring his strikeout victims to 16 in 11 innings toiled against Bill Terry's team.

The power of the young speedball ace at the gate was proved again yesterday when 8,000 fans turned out to see him hurl.

When Feller left the box the Indians had a 1 to 0 lead, but it was wiped out quickly after Mel Harder went to the mound. Harder was hammered for six runs in the fifth inning, two more in the seventh and one in the eighth. All told he gave up 12 hits.

After scoring in the second Cleveland's only other run came in the ninth round of a long home run by Earl Averill.

CONNIE MACK'S BOYS CLOUTED BY MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 9.—(UP)—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were en route home today.

They completed their spring training games against minor league opponents by suffering an 8-0 shutout against the Memphis Chickasaws of the Southern league yesterday. The Chicks held the Mackmen to two hits, while they battered three Athletic hurriers for a dozen safeties.

The A's meet the Philly Nationals in the first of their five-game intra-city series Saturday.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

BUILDING A VIENNA COUP
WHENEVER you can run a solid bunch of tricks to within one of the number you need to make your contract, it is well to think of the possibility of building a squeeze by means of a Vienna coup. When the last card of your suit is offered, you are in an ideal situation if the left hand opponent must guard against a single card in the dummy and the right hand opponent must defend against a single card in your own hand. Their task in this renders it impossible for either to retain also a guard in a third suit in which the dummy has the high card plus a little one.

this contract, he could see 12 tricks, 6 in clubs and 2 each in the other suits.
When the heart 10 was led, he placed the heart Q in the East hand, so was obliged to go up with the heart K. He now ran his 6 clubs and the heart Ace was played, retaining the heart J in his own hand, so that East was obliged to hold on to the queen. When the diamond Ace and diamond K were played, East was forced to unguard his spade holding, and West was placed in a similar position because he had to retain his diamond Q. The forced discards of his opponents enabled Mr. Kaiser to get 3 spade tricks and successfully make his contract of 7-Clubs.
